

PCF 7.1–7.2 — Recruit-to-Hire Value Stream

HITL Design

This document defines the HITL (Human-in-the-Loop) design for the Recruit-to-Hire value stream, spanning APQC PCF v8.0 process groups 7.1 (Develop and Manage HR Planning, Policies, and Strategies) and 7.2 (Recruit, Source, and Select Employees) — 9 Level 3 processes and 54 Level 4 activities in total.

At M3 (HITL Design Intent), this value stream's aggregate human-involvement ratio is 53%, down from a 77% undesigned (M1) baseline — a 24-point AI convergence opportunity. Role accountability for every L3 process is confirmed under the framework's reasoned-match methodology, grounded in real APQC L4 activity text against the Organizational Role Taxonomy's documented responsibilities.

HITL Impact Analysis

Human involvement (H%) at M1 (Undesigned) and M3 (HITL Design Intent), by L3 process. Mixed-pattern L3 rows reflect an equal-weighted rollup of their real L4 children.

Process Step (L3)	PCF	Pattern	M1 H%	M3 H%	Δ M1 – M3	Opportunity
Develop human resources strategy	7.1.1	Mixed	82%	60%	-22%	Strategy-formation activities (needs identification, structure, delivery model) stay Knowledge-pattern and human-led at M3; only strategy communication (Document-pattern) carries real AI-absorption opportunity.
Develop and implement workforce planning, policies, and strategies	7.1.2	Mixed	78%	56%	-22%	16 L4 activities span strategic design and administrative execution; policy administration and job-architecture activities carry the largest AI-absorption opportunity, while compensation and succession design stay Knowledge-pattern.
Monitor and update HR strategies, plans, and policies	7.1.3	Mixed	82%	59%	-23%	Measurement and reporting-cadence work is the most automatable content in this L3; strategy-revision judgment itself stays human.
Develop competency management models	7.1.4	Knowledge	85%	65%	-20%	Single Knowledge-pattern L3 with no L4 sub-breakdown; competency modeling stays human-led at M3, consistent with its capability-architecture content.
Manage employee requisitions	7.2.1	Mixed	68%	46%	-22%	Requisition administration (posting, notification, date management) is the clearest AI-absorption target; strategic staffing alignment stays Knowledge-pattern.
Recruit/Source candidates	7.2.2	Mixed	68%	45%	-23%	Sourcing execution — channel management, candidate-pool development — carries strong Transaction-pattern content suited to AI-assisted automation.
Screen and select candidates	7.2.3	Mixed	80%	61%	-19%	Selection-tool administration is automatable; the interview and select/reject judgment itself stays human-led.
Manage new hire/re-hire	7.2.4	Mixed	75%	52%	-23%	Offer administration carries AI-absorption opportunity; negotiation and the final hire decision stay human.
Manage applicant information	7.2.5	Transaction	60%	35%	-25%	Fully Transaction-pattern — background checks, records, tracking, archiving — the single largest AI-absorption opportunity in this value stream.

AI Capability Map

Pattern-type distribution across all 55 activity units in this value stream (54 L4 activities plus one single-leaf L3). H% figures are the pattern type's standard value at each maturity level, applied consistently across all PCF domains.

Design Narrative

Recruit-to-Hire's HITL design keeps human judgment concentrated at three points: strategy formation (7.1.1, Knowledge-pattern, CHRO-accountable), candidate selection itself (7.2.3, the interview and select/reject decision), and final hire commitment (7.2.4, offer negotiation). Everything else in the value stream — requisition administration, sourcing-channel execution, applicant data management — carries real AI-absorption opportunity at M3, reflected in the value stream's largest single Δ M1 → M3 gap sitting in 7.2.5 (Manage Applicant Information, entirely Transaction-pattern, -25 points).
