HITL Design Insight

HITL Design Insight — P2P

Order Materials and Services (4.2.4, 40% Human at M3) covers requisition processing and approval, supplier-quote solicitation, purchase-order creation and distribution, order expediting, and order-exception resolution. Classified as a Document process: the work is dominated by structured document creation and routing — requisitions, quotes, purchase orders — with an approval gate and exception handling layered on top rather than driving the pattern. Operate Warehousing (4.4.3, 35% Human at M3) covers receiving, inspecting, and storing inbound deliveries; picking, packing, and shipping outbound product; tracking inventory accuracy and third-party logistics performance; and managing warehouse transfers. Classified as a Transaction process: high-volume, rules-based physical and system-of-record work with mature automation already in place. Process Accounts Payable (AP) (9.6.1, 35% Human at M3) covers verifying the AP pay file against the purchase order, auditing invoices, approving and processing payments, handling payable exceptions, and responding to AP inquiries. Also classified Transaction-dominant: invoice and payment processing follow a rules-based three-way-match sequence, with payment approval as the one retained-human decision gate inside the process. P2P aggregate at M3: 36.7% Human / 63.3% AI — the lowest Human% and largest M1→M3 gap (-27.3pt) of any module to date, reflecting P2P's transactional, document-and-rules-based character: requisitions, purchase orders, warehouse receipts, and invoice/payment processing are all high-volume, structured work where AI absorption is the dominant opportunity, with human judgment retained narrowly at requisition and payment approval gates.
